Plaintiff is advised that only persons acting under the color of state law are proper defendants under Section 1983. The Commonwealth of Virginia is immune under the Eleventh Amendment. Private parties such as attorneys and other inmates may not be sued under Section 1983. In addition, liability under Section 1983 requires personal action by the defendant that caused you harm. Normally, the Director of the Department of Corrections, wardens, and sheriffs are not liable under Section 1983 when a claim against them rests solely on the fact that they supervise persons who may have violated your rights. In addition, prisons, jails, and departments within an institution are not persons under Section 1983.

IV. STATEMENT OF THE CLAIM

State here the facts of your case. Describe how each defendant is involved and how you were harmed by their action. Also include the dates, places of events, and constitutional amendments you allege were violated.

If you intend to allege several related claims, number and set forth each claim in a separate paragraph. Attach additional sheets if necessary.

MCCOY Sgt Ellis is internal affairs at the jail. She refuses to help me with anything at the jail due to my (James) stating I am "mentally ill". I might have mentioned her before - but my mother and aunt won't assist as well. neither will the magistrate. It takes a year to file charges and they won't even allow me to file them - and then MCCOY is also Vick's brother in law or brother so there is nepotism in me being held at the jail according to inmates here that are friends with Vick that tell me managers and guards are there, unrepresented inmates (ones to move from the jail as AW-SE local burner Rodriguez) on my own case - but they ignore me and do not afford me the rights that I need and the right to be safe. E. all my previous rights are rights under Section 9 of the constitution. Please see page 2 (pls also see the criminal case MCCOY acted in retaliation) which is clearly (to) me - this sure but very hard as it's directly harmful to me -
Thank
